Description

In the past eight years, we have provided multilingual support to a range of companies. To develop your business, would you like to hire a multilingual customer service expert? The expertise of our customer service recruiters allows us to quickly find candidates to fill your customer service and support roles: customer service directors, support technicians, field agents, telemarketers, call center managers, customer advisers and customer service specialists. With 8 years of experience in the European market, we have a clear understanding of its challenges as well. Based on experience, motivation, technical and soft skills, our consultants create a job ad with you and select your perfect candidate.
